

RAPS G. O. P. SHIP POLICY

Trying to Force Sales At Sacrifice Prices, Declares Good of Iowa.

Efforts of the Republicans to force sacrifice sales of the former German liners and other ships owned by the Shipping Board by denying appropriations to the board were denounced in the House yesterday by Congressman Byrnes (Dem.) of Tennessee.

Congressman Good (Rep.) of Iowa, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, who led the fight in the committee against the appropriations, admitted that if the sundry civil bill is adopted as it now stands the Shipping Board will have to sell the German ships and many others. The bill carries no direct appropriation whatever for the Shipping Board and limits the amount it may expend from receipts.

Chairman Good took the position that the German ships ought not to be reconditioned, as desired by the Shipping Board, and declared if the bill is passed in its present shape, the board will not be permitted to recondition them, because it will not have the necessary funds for this work.

This proposed policy of restricting the expenditures of the Shipping Board to an amount less than it actually needs, declared Mr. Byrnes, must result in compelling sales of ships at sacrifice prices.

Congress should not take such a step, he urged. Prospective purchasers will take advantage of the position in which the board is placed, he pointed out, and ultimately the board will have to make sales below a reasonable figure.

Mr. Byrnes also warned against any step which might open the way to the danger of American ships falling into hands whence they might fly the flag of a rival commercial nation.

The amount to which the expenditures of the Shipping Board is limited, he stated, is $163,000,000 during the ensuing fiscal year. As against this the board had asked for $25,000,000 to complete its building program; $24,000,000 for administrative expenses; $30,000,000 for its capital fund, $44,000,000 for reconditioning the German ships, and $25,000,000 to settle claims.

Construction, administration and capital fund needs of the board practically will exhaust the funds allowed in the bill, he continued, leaving claims and reconditioning of the German ships unprovided for.

"It is an unwise policy for Congress to say indirectly that the Shipping Board shall manage its business with complete responsibility in reconditioning the German ships," said Mr. Byrnes. "The board should be given ample funds to enable it to sell its ships to the best advantage."

Mr. Byrnes announced he will offer an amendment making direct appropriations for the board and requiring that its receipts be covered into the Treasury.

BURROUGHS TO TALK ON DISTRICT SUFFRAGE

Congressman Sherman E. Burroughs of New Hampshire, author of the constitutional amendment to enfranchise the people of Washington, will speak on District suffrage at the mid-week luncheon of the City Club this week.

The voting machine owned by the national press committee for District of Columbia suffrage, which has been at Parker & Bridget's store the past week, will be on exhibition at Saks & Co., Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue, all of this week, where Washingtonians will have an opportunity to see how people in the United States vote except in the District of Columbia.

Three of the Twenty-eight Wives of Charles N. Harvey, California "Bluebeard," and Some of His Loot

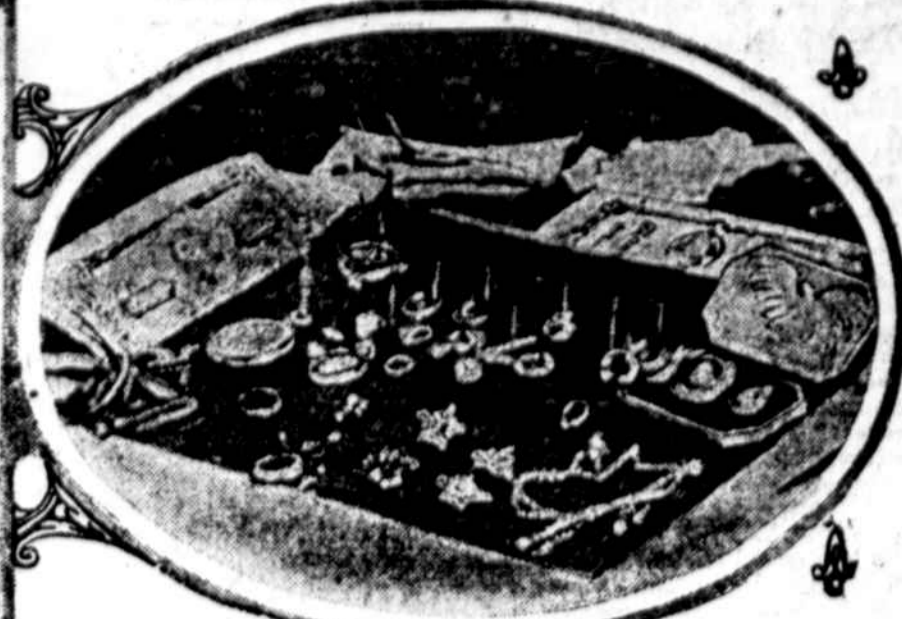

ONE OF THE SUPPOSED WIVES. A photograph of this woman was found among Harvey's effects. She is believed to have been one of his victims.

ELIZABETH L. WILLIAMSON. Mrs. Williamson is one of Harvey's "wives" who escaped his murder mania. She is expected to give valuable information about him.

NINA LEE DELONEY. Harvey admitted the murder of this woman near Borego Valley, Cal., and told where her body would be found.

SOME OF PRISONER'S LOOT. Among the things found in the loot taken in Harvey's home were watches, rings, and other pieces of jewelry.

U. S. BACKS TRADING WITH CARRANZA FOE

First Chief Told He Cannot Re-Collect Customs Gathered By Revolutionists.

(Continued from First Page.) converge on Tampico, in the heart of the oil district, and join forces for the siege of that place.

Encircling Mexico City. When Tampico has fallen, they point out that the whole northeastern zone will be freed from Carranza influence, and the armies of Gomez and Almazan ready to join in the encircling movement which the rebels are now executing upon Mexico City.

It was estimated by Government officials that 19,000 Americans are now in Mexico, of which number approximately 4,000 are in the consular district of Mexico City, 1,200 in Chihuahua, 500 in Sonora, and 300 in Sinaloa, the remainder being scattered. At the outbreak of the revolution, in 1910, there were 40,000 Americans in Mexico.

Expect Wilson to Act. President Wilson may act this week in the question of exportation of arms and munitions to Mexico, his advisers believe.

An embargo now prevents shipments of arms into the turbulent republic below the Rio Grande, although munition machinery may be exported according to a recent ruling of Attorney General Palmer.

The anti-Carranza forces here are working to have the arms embargo lifted. Carranza forces are content to let it stand, because it gives them an advantage against the revolutionists who now are attacking on four fronts in a carefully planned campaign.

BRITISH DISMANTLE TURK FORTS AT TREBIZOND

LONDON, May 2.—The strong fortifications about Trebizond, the Turkish seaport, have been rendered useless by the British, said a dispatch to the Daily Express today.

Lifting of the embargo might be taken to indicate that this Government favors the revolution. President Wilson, therefore, may decide not to take any action in the matter until the situation in Mexico is far more advanced than it now is. This week will determine the real strength of the revolutionists, in the opinion of many officials here.

Ask Carranza to Quit. Washington officials today are interested in a report that Carranza's advisers, at a recent meeting in Mexico City, proposed that he resign from the presidency. The report reached here through sources unfriendly to Carranza.

Carranza's advisers suggested, according to the report, that his resignation might save off American intervention, which in some quarters in Mexico City now is greatly feared.

Officials here so far even privately have given little indication that this Government has begun to consider possible armed intervention. There are, however, many forms which intervention might take besides invasion. Lifting the arms embargo is one. Another would be an economic embargo by the powers. This would require prolonged diplomatic negotiation, it is presumed. Great Britain would be willing to assist in an economic embargo, it is believed, if commerce could be continued with the oil region on the east coast of Mexico. To insure this might require invasion of the oil region by a military force, it is pointed out, unless the anti-Carranza forces could control the region.

MEXICAN PROBE TO BE DISCONTINUED SOON. Hearings on the Mexican situation by the Senate subcommittee on the Senator Fall of New Mexico is chairman, will be discontinued in the very near future. This decision has been reached by Senate leaders in view of the present situation in Mexico, which many believe will develop in the early overthrow of the Carranza government.

Senator Fall has returned from the Mexican border, where he held investigations at the various border towns. "The situation in Mexico at the present time is such that I do not feel anything should be said relative to it," Senator Fall declared. "The press reports are such that conclusions easily may be drawn."

"Do you believe the situation will develop into the early overthrow of the Carranza government?" Senator Fall was asked.

"The committee plans to discontinue hearings on the Mexican situation during and before the Carranza administration at an early date," Fall replied.

To Keep the Face Fresh, Clear, Youthful

More important than the cosmetic care of the complexion is its physical care. To keep the face clean, fresh, youthful, there's nothing better than common mercuric iodine. It absorbs the soiled or faded worn-out skin particles. Cosmetics simply add unwholesomeness to the complexion. That's the difference. By all means, acquire the mercuric iodine was habit. It's so easy to get an ounce of the wax at the drugstore, apply at night like cold cream and wash it off next morning. There's no detention indoors, the old skin coming off so gradually no one suspects you are using anything. When in a week or two the skin is youthful, rose-like underlain is fully made-up complexion after that. It must be apparent that this process means complete ridance of all cosmetics, blotches, like freckles, pimples, blotches and blackheads.

McALL MISSIONERS TO MEET HERE MAY 5

The American McAll Association, which supports the McAll Mission in France, will hold its annual meeting in the Church of the Covenant, May 5, 6 and 7. Representatives will be present from auxiliaries all over the country. The association comes to Washington, for the first time in ten years, on the invitation of the Washington auxiliary, of which Mrs. Henry B. F. Macfarland is president.

There will be interesting speakers from France and from the United States who will tell of the great service done, especially during the war period by the McAll Mission, and the value of the support given by the American McAll Association.

CALLS BLUEBEARD "ARCH CRIMINAL"

District Attorney Expects Harvey to Admit Many More Crimes.

(Continued from First Page.) The "Bluebeard" would be able to make the trip to the desert. Friday was tentatively decided upon as the date for the trip.

Harvey may be taken from his cot in the county hospital here and transported by train and ambulance 500 miles to direct detectives to the lonely burial place of one of the slain women.

Physicians are conducting an examination of Harvey's condition of health, and a test of his strength to see if he can withstand such a trip and such an ordeal.

Harvey today said that he "could find the body in the valley with his eyes shut," but added that the photos the district had taken there confused him, as "all desert country looks alike in pictures."

The officials are confident that they will find the body when they take Harvey with them.

Search for the body of the Deloney girl is being continued today in the Borego valley by the sheriff of San Diego county.

Sheriff Cline, of Los Angeles, called off his deputies last night, declaring he would wait until Harvey's physical condition would enable him to go in person to conduct the search.

Girl's Body Vital Evidence. Deputy District Attorney Doran said today it is improbable any evidence in the case would be presented to the grand jury at its session tomorrow, unless Nina Deloney's body is found in the meantime.

The delaying prosecution is the failure to find the body, officers admitted. A conviction, even with a complete confession, could not be secured unless the body was found, they said.

Voiceline received word today from Washington State authorities that the Northern State "has a perfect murder case against Harvey," and added that unless the Deloney body is found here, Washington will make every effort to extradite Harvey.

Voiceline stated that this is the one move of which the murderer is in deadly fear.

"Every time extradition to Washington is mentioned to this man he shakes with fear and pleads with me to prosecute him here," the district attorney said. "He apparently has received word from Washington, possibly in an anonymous letter, that if he is ever taken there he will be subjected to mob violence. For this reason we are sanguine of his ability to find the Deloney grave for us. He prefers to be prosecuted here."

Tells of Trip to Death Valley. In his further talk with the prosecutor today Harvey told of three trips to Death Valley. The first, he said, was when he took the body, disrobed it to nudity, and buried it in the sand. The second trip was when he returned to burn the clothing he had left in his haste to get away.

And the third was a return trip to see that all the clothing had been burned and that nothing reminiscent of his crime remained to send him to the gallows.

Voiceline expects to have a prolonged examination made of the prisoner tomorrow, and it is at this time that he expects to get the detailed and full confession of the bigamist-murderer.

LONDON POLICE PERMIT LABOR'S MAY DAY FLING

Parade Features Demonstration. Reds Make Speeches—Few Disorders During Celebration.

LONDON, May 2.—The greatest May Day parade in history marked the annual holiday of labor in London. The one-day strike was effective everywhere, and there were processions and demonstrations galore, but, except for minor incidents, the day passed without disorders. The authorities, while thoroughly prepared to cope with every emergency, had given the watchword, "Let 'em have their fling."

The biggest demonstration of the day was the parade in which workers of all trades joined. Red flags were flaunted and revolutionary songs were sung, sizzling speeches were made, and thundering threats uttered, but, on the whole, the affair was a celebration replete with promises rather than a mass of protest.

Radical spellbinders were left undisturbed by the thousands of helmeted police calmly watching the gathering of the workers' legion in Hyde Park.

Altogether between 7,500,000 and 8,000,000 workers were idle throughout the United Kingdom, it is estimated.

Though there are some fears lest the railway men carry out their threats to strike, with rumblings among the miners and transport workers also, there is a general feeling that tomorrow will see London resume "business as usual."

WAR AMPHITHEATER DEDICATION MAY 15

Elaborate Ceremonial to Feature Exercises Over Memorial At Arlington.

The great marble amphitheater in Arlington Cemetery is practically completed. Arrangements are now being made by the War Department for its dedication on May 15, according to announcement just made.

The ceremony will be in the hands of the Grand Army of the Republic, of which Col. J. M. Hall, of Columbus, Ohio, is the president-in-chief.

John McElroy is the resident chairman of the organization, and according to the plans for the exercises both veterans of the Spanish-American and great war will participate, as will the army and navy.

At the services there will be guests of honor from all parts of the world, including members of the Diplomatic Corps, Congressmen and national officers of various patriotic orders. Members of the Cabinet also will attend.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles, only surviving lieutenant general of the civil war, will be the marshal of the parade, while Chief of Staff George A. Hovey will lead the Grand Army veterans, and Capt. D. V. Chisholm the Spanish-American war veterans.

Erected on one of the crowning knolls of the "National Valhalla," the amphitheater, which has cost nearly $1,000,000 is declared to be the only one in the world that has been erected "as a memorial to the soldiers who fought the battles of their country."

Work to secure this amphitheater was begun fifteen years ago by the G. A. R., which petitioned Congress and after twelve years an appropriation was secured and a commission appointed to direct the structure which will seat about 5,000 people and is built of pure white Barre marble.

SONS OF HARVARD CLOSE D. C. SESSION

Banquet At New Willard Ends 22nd Convention of Associated Crimson Clubs.

The twenty-second annual convention of the Associated Harvard Clubs, which opened in this city Friday, closed last night with a banquet at the New Willard Hotel. An informal program has been arranged for several hundred members who remained in this city today.

The convention, one of the most popular in the history of the clubs, was attended by 600 members from all parts of the country.

Speakers at the banquet last night were Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of Harvard University, G. C. Kimball, retiring president of the Associated Harvard Clubs, James Byrne, president of the Harvard Alumni Association, and John W. Prentiss, president-elect of the associated Harvard Club, president.

The informal program for today includes golf, tennis, and other sports at the Chevy Chase Club, a trip down the Potomac to Indian Head and Quantico on a special steamer, and a trip to Monticello as the guests of the Harvard Club of Virginia. Many of the members signified their intention of going to the ball game at American League Park just made.

The delegates spent the day at Annapolis yesterday, returning yesterday evening to attend the final banquet. A boat race scheduled for yesterday afternoon between the midshipmen and the Union Boat Club of Boston was postponed until today because of rough water.

The callers "just knew" these cars bore a lot of Red, and that the letter "H" stood for Bill Haywood, a prominent I. W. W. Upon investigation, it was found that the parade was one of the Harvard alumni.

"MAY DAY" PLOTS PROVE FLIVVER

Harvard Alumni Parading With Red Banners Mistaken for I. W. W.

The widely-advertised "May Day" revolutionary demonstrations were a distinct flivver.

Reports reaching the Department of Justice gave absolutely no grounds for Attorney General Palmer's apprehensions of a wave of violence that would be so conducted that secret service agents were required to make no arrests.

After going over the day's reports, officials of the Department of Justice attributed the lack of overt acts to the fact that the wide publicity given the Attorney General's "red" scare, had intimidated the radical elements into quiescence.

Of course, the day could not pass without having its humorous side. At least two dozen telephone calls were received at the Department of Justice from agitated persons in Washington who said they had seen a parade of red demonstrators near the White House. According to the reports, a long line of motor cars, decorated with red banners bearing the letter "H" were passing along a prominent street.

The callers "just knew" these cars bore a lot of Red, and that the letter "H" stood for Bill Haywood, a prominent I. W. W. Upon investigation, it was found that the parade was one of the Harvard alumni.

PUBLIC IGNORED BY HARD COAL MINERS

People Not Represented At Closed Conference Over New Wage Scale.

Just how many additional millions householders must pay next winter for anthracite coal may be settled tomorrow morning when coal miners and operators meet behind closed doors in the office of Secretary Wilson to write a new wage scale.

The conference, called when miners and operators reached a deadlock at private sessions in New York, began yesterday. Sessions yesterday were conducted on this plan:

For the miners—Union President Lewis and four assistants. For the operators—M. J. Richards and four assistants.

The last space must be left blank. No representatives of the public nor of the newspapers were admitted to Saturday's session. There is no reason to suppose the line-up will be changed tomorrow.

When a new wage scale was fixed recently for bituminous coal miners, the public was represented on the commission which framed the scale. Members of the commission were named by the President. Nearly all meetings of this commission were open at least when the miners of the operators were present.

The closed session began at 10 a. m. yesterday. At 2 a. m. the meeting broke up and Secretary Gorman, in his capacity of official announcer, came to the door, calling for the newspaper men.

"The conference wishes to make this announcement," he said: "There will be no statement made by the conference until the end of the afternoon session, which will begin at 3 p. m."

Gorman then slammed the door and was seen no more until 5:30 p. m. when the afternoon session was ended. Then he popped out of the office door and announced:

"The conference has adjourned until 10 a. m. Monday."
